Virgil's Black Cherry Cream Soda

Here's another odd one. I know Virgil makes root beer and cream soda, but never saw this flavor Black Cherry Cream before. In fact, while I've seen Cherry Creams, I've never seen a Black Cherry Cream. If you don't know, the difference between cherry and black cherry flavored things, is black cherry has a bit heavier flavor than regular cherry. So I was anxious to see how these flavors mixed.

Well . . . it's definitely different. I can barely taste any vanilla cream flavor in this, but it is there. The black cherry is definitely up front though, yet not quite as strong as I'm used to tasting in other black cherry sodas. The flavoring is all natural, so that's a good thing. I'm guessing they were worried that the two flavors would be overpowering so they subdued them a bit. All in all, it isn't too bad. Just wish it wasn't so pricey.

Sweetened With: "unbleached cane sugar"

Verdict: Worth a bottle or two
