

SEARCH BLOG

FLAG BLOG

Next Blog» Create Blog | Sign In

BRIE, ERIC AND MALI GOMEZ

We have been married for 7 years, 2 months & 5 days.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 18, 2008

I need a case of Reed's Ginger Beer

"Behold, children are a gift from the Lord. The fruit of the womb is a reward" Psalm 127:3

I read this verse while doing my bible study the other morning and God seemed to speak it over me and give me confidence in the reward that will come from the fruit of my womb. Little did I know that there was "fruit" growing in my womb. To cut to the chase, I'm pregnant. No, I was not cleared to get pregnant, and NO we were not attempting to get pregnant, but it has been 10 months since my d&C, 12 1/2 months since the miscarriage, and 14 months since I found out I was pregnant the last time. And, God in His faithfulness and blessing to our family has created a new, healthy little baby in HIS timing. Today I had a sonogram to make sure that I was pregnant and that it was healthy. Even though I am only at 6 weeks, there was a clear baby (well blob) with a rapidly moving heart beat (138 bpm). All moms and dads know how reassuring and wonderful it is to look at that screen and see the heart beating. We also got to hear the heart beat. The sonographer was the same one who did my molar pregnancy sonogram so she knew what to look for. We both are not naive in thinking that this means we are in the clear, but the first step is knowing that there is a healthy baby growing inside of me. So we feel okay sharing this with others, that I am pregnant, and that this is a baby. We trust completely in what God has in store for us and this baby. The tentative due date is February 9th, 2009, 13 months after my last due date. Praise God for this miracle, that Eric says is a boy. Mali is calling it a girl and wants to name it Abby Gray (Just like Zachy and Calyn's sister). Mali has been sweet about it today and just came in and "scratched" my belly saying she was tickling the baby. I'm surprised by her sweetness as well as Eric's loving care. He ran to the store to get me a six pack of Reed's ginger beer (it is NOT alcoholic, just like ginger ale), but once again I'm having all day sickness and Reed's helps tremendously. Thanks for all of your prayers and support. I will keep updating our blog on our status, as I'm a little tired and sick and probably will not be good at checking my email. This certainly has been a journey and I'm amazed at where we stand today!

Brie, Eric, and Mali and baby

POSTED BY BRIE AT 3:19 PM.

---

ABOUT ME

BRIE

We just moved to Amarillo in July for a move up in the coaching world (Eric) and I'm learning to adjust to a new town. It was a difficult time to leave, but I look forward to what God will bring out of this move and into our lives. Mali is adjusting okay, but really misses her best friends (Zachy and Calyn). In the midst of all this, piled on our laps, were some health problems for me, and the reason for the start of this blog.

VIEW MY COMPLETE PROFILE

---

BLOG ARCHIVE

▼ 2008 (59)

▼ July (6)

3rd Sonogram

One Year Anniversary

Stay "3" forever

4th of July

Eric's job update

Gummy Bear

► June (5)

► May (11)

